GENERAL QUESTIONS

Question: Is this proposal "All or None?"

Response: Yes, this proposal is "All or None." If your company is going to submit a proposal, your company must be able to provide us every item listed in the original RFP and addendums.

Question: Are there item numbers for each item?

Response: No, we do not have item numbers which can be given out. The items listed in the original RFP and Addendum 002 are picked from several different sources, thus, there is not one company with item numbers in which to pull the information. The specifications are given as minimum requirements. We understand in the advertising field, the specifications will probably exceed our minimum requirements. We use the specifications from several sources as a starting point so all the vendors are pricing the same things as minimum specifications.
